

Elizabeth Asked to Take Trip to West

By GAY PAULEY

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UPI)—The word is around that Queen Elizabeth II wants to see the view from the Empire State Building and circle Manhattan Island by boat on her visit here Oct. 21.

Well, Your Majesty, these are pleasant sights indeed for a tourist. But to get to know us Americans, go West, young Queen.

Skip New York. Expand your stay, bring the two kids as well as Phillip, and let's get acquainted, coast to coast.

The view from Pikes Peak is more spectacular than the one from the Empire State Building anyway. You ought to see Boulder Dam, the Grand Canyon, a sunset on the Golden Gate Bridge, Yosemite Park, and the red and gold of New England's forests in October.

TRY TO TAKE in Niagara Falls again. You caught them the last time you were on this continent when you were a princess. But it was from the Canadian side.

The ticker tape parade up Broadway which they've planned for you is a great honor. But you mustn't miss a football game at South Bend, Ind. Unfortunately it'll be too late for a baseball game and hot dogs at the ball park.

To know the real us, you should visit an automat, shop in a supermarket, dig clams and attend a clamboke on Cape Cod.

Sample apple pie in Washington, fish for trout in Colorado or for catfish along the Mississippi, listen to jazz on Bourbon Street in New Orleans.

Attend a picnic or a backyard barbecue. Visit Disneyland in California, and a rodeo in Cheyenne—the kids will love both.

SINCE YOU'RE a thoroughbred fancier, you must see the horse farms in the Kentucky bluegrass. While you're there, get someone to stage a burgoo feast for you.

Visit an automobile plant in Detroit; see "Hazel" and "Nancy," the famous steel blast furnaces at Morrisville, Pa., visit an oil well in the Southwest.

Sample pecan pie and fried chicken in any southern state, taste chicken in any Texas, visit the gaming tables at Las Vegas. If you don't gamble, it's still a sight to see.

Skii at Sun Valley, go antiquing in New England, and visit Independence Hall in Philadelphia to see the document which officially proclaimed our freedom from some of your predecessors several years ago.

YOU MUSTN'T miss Chinatown, and Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco and the redwoods of California. Eat a steak in Chicago, pumpkin pie in any Midwestern state, see a granary in the corn and wheat belt, visit a dairy farm in Wisconsin. Don't miss the moon over Miami, or a chance to sample cold beer in St. Louis. Go on a shopping tour of any main street in America.

And to appreciate a traffic jam the likes of which you haven't seen since London at your coronation, spend a day on a Connecticut beach and then head for New York along the Merritt Parkway at around 7 p.m. on a Sunday evening.

In other words, Your Majesty, don't let your advisers limit your trip to a few days in Washington, Jamestown, Va., and New York. For already, one observer—taking a look at the brief tour they've planned—has decided, "There are more anglophobes in Devon than in Virginia."

Editor's Corner

CIGARETTE SMOKERS
STILL IN A QUANDRY

Warnings against the use of tobacco are nothing new, but investigation in research into the subject has been stepped up greatly during the past three years. The strange part of it is that the more information given out on the subject the more the average cigarette smoker has been confused.

When a group of medical experts first announced that their findings indicated that the use of cigarettes was a cause of lung cancer many smokers swore off or cut down their smoking considerably. The result was that cigarette sales decreased in 1953 for the first time in 21 years. Sales fell off again in 1954. With the introduction of filter sales started to climb again and are greater today than at any time in history.

Now a Congressional Subcommittee is conducting hearings to determine whether filters actually do protect smokers from possible hazards. There is little doubt that many of America's 60,000,000 cigarette smokers have been sold on the idea that filters do give them some protection from possible harmful effects.

Moral Grounds Too

Way back in 1912 the use of tobacco in any form was considered by many people to be injurious to health and to morals as well. One of the early campaigners against tobacco was James Jeffreys—not a prize fighter. He was a real campaigner and wrote a whole book on the physical and moral effects of smoking.

It remained to the medical experts however to link cigarette smoking with lung cancer. They conducted lengthy experiments and surveys—and came up with the conclusion that there was a definite connection between the two. These findings have been challenged by other experts who—like many smokers—are still not convinced.

Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond, however, director of American Cancer Society, announced recently an opinion that cigarette smoking also causes an increase in deaths from heart disease and has a "severe effect" on patients with peptic ulcers and Burger's disease. He also said he believed that smoking has an effect on death rates from respiratory diseases other than lung cancer.

Politicians Join In

With the cigarette filter being investigated by a congressional subcommittee the politicians were quick to enter the scene. Senator Richard L. Neuberger of Oregon has introduced a bill that would cut down farm price supports and soil bank payments to tobacco growers. Senator Wallace Bennett of Utah has suggested that each package of cigarettes bear a printed warning to the effect that use of the product may result in cancer and other diseases. Both approaches were considered unrealistic, it being pointed out that supports might be withheld from corn because they make whiskey out of it and that automobiles might also be dangerous because so many people are killed in them every day.

Brands Are Multiplying

Adding to the confusion of smokers and the problems of cigarette dealers, manufacturers have come up with a number of new brands and filter tips. I was in a group of six people the other day, all of whom were smoking a different brand of cigarettes. One was a newcomer—Oasis—I had never even heard of before. Many smokers I have talked to in recent weeks are cutting down or have sworn off altogether. This is borne out by recent surveys. Most smokers are not sufficiently alarmed to quit altogether although a few men have gone back to their smelly old pipes. One chain store executive states that their problems of display and storage have been tripled with the increased number of sizes and styles in which cigarettes now come. Two prominent brands for example put out three different packages.

The next hurdle of cigarette manufacturers might have to get over is a possible finding by the Congressional committee that sellers are giving little or no protection. The manufacturers are trying desperately to remove the tobacco itself injurious elements but this may be a long time off yet. In the meantime more than half of the public in America will keep on huffing and puffing.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

'Oh, Say, Can You See...?' II

WASHINGTON, D.C.—"What ever happened to the United States of America?" asked the Returning Traveler as he leafed through the pages of history. "Did some foreign nation cross the ocean and stamp out the American sovereignty with troops?"

That wasn't necessary, he was told. By 1937 the USA had 40 per cent of its Army, much of its Air Force, and most of its Navy stationed abroad. The USA was also training 200 divisions of foreigners in 72 alien nations.

You might suppose from this form of armed occupation that other nations were surrendering their sovereignty to the USA, but this is not so. During the decades at the mid-century, our Presidents were busy turning over American sovereignty to the Old World of Europe and Asia.

"IT MUST HAVE required a lot of ingenuity," said the Returning Traveler. "How did it all happen?"

Oh, in various ways, he was told. The Status-of-Forces treaties, along with executive agreements, surrendered the sovereign right to try our own nationals accused of crime while on duty with the armed forces. Meanwhile, at home, the right of trial by jury was nibbled away. But these erosions were only part of the drift determination of certain mid-century Presidents to undo the work of the Founding Fathers.

"Our Presidents?" echoed the Returning Traveler. "Our commanders-in-chief? Our heads-of-state? They were part of the Share America Movement?"

THEY WERE ITS prime movers, he was told. They abandoned our moral position on world affairs in favor of entangling alliances. They promoted give-away programs. They deserted our prisoners of war in enemy camps as well as abandoning our peace-also said he believed that smoking has an effect on death rates from respiratory diseases other than lung cancer.

MRS. McCARN is retiring from her long and faithful service to Palm Springs. One of the first things she will tell me when she sees me is: "that was a corny way to put it."

That's Mac. And I love it. No one was ever in doubt about what she thought.

Well, anyway, as an old emeritus myself, (they call me "editor emeritus of The Desert Sun") I am sliding over and make room for another emeritus.

For Mrs. McCarn will be city clerk, emeritus, of Palm Springs.

BACK ALMOST 17 years ago when I first came down here to become editor, also classified ad taker, circulation manager, newsboy, proof-reader and part time bookkeeper of The Sun, Mac was one of the first persons I met. She was right hand man to Arthur E. Bailey, then city manager. She was also doing many jobs.

That was in the old city hall next to the telephone building. Whenever they moved the city hall, she went with it.

SHE BECAME acting city manager when Bailey found he had no sufficient time from private business for the post. Later she was appointed city clerk when council decided they needed a man for the city management.

"Like the Roman Emperors who followed the early Caesars?" asked the Returning Traveler.

THE HISTORY books will probably show you, he was told, that the destructive process set in with President Andrew Jackson. Old Hickory brought in "real democracy," the spoils system, the glorification of the common man and the vilification of capitalism. It's noticeable that Jackson was followed by the eight weakest Presidents we ever had.

During that time the country refused to elect its leaders from Congress—Clay, Webster, Calhoun, Benton and the rest. This had the effect of weakening the prestige of Congress.

Indeed, as I read close to the pages, I seem to see that . . .

The eye of the Returning Traveler brightened with hope. Down in the emerging text of unfolding events, he seemed to see that Congress was getting tired of playing second fiddle to the White House and the Supreme Court.

The city hall is going to miss Mrs. McCarn. Even those she had to argue with in the course of public duty, will miss her.

SO THAT is why I am sticking my neck out again, mentioning her name in print. She deserves it. The kindly thoughts I wish to express, I mean.

And as one old emeritus to another, not so old either, I want to extend congratulations for 20 years of efficient service to Palm Springs and publicize appreciation for 17 years of pleasant associations.

THE RETURNING Traveler was closing in on the truth by this time. The genius of the American system is that it is re-

Is losing Mac?

For the third time in 10 days I am risking the tolerant attitude which Louise McCarn, city clerk bears toward me. I am mentioning her name again.

For, if there is anything that Mrs. McCarn, "Mac" to her scores of friends, holds in low favor, it is to see her name in print.

This, despite the fact that she has been in public office for around 20 years. That's as old as the city is.

EARL WILSON:

Taking Cookie on Vacation

NEW YORK — I never thought I'd be mistaken for a Schnauzer dog. But this has now come to pass due to our family's devotion to our dog, Cookie.

Not only was I mistaken for Cookie, but I couldn't deny it.

It came about when the Beautiful Wife, Gorgeous Mother-in-law, Slugger and I endeavored to take Cookie with us to the Lake Tarleton Inn at Pike, N.H.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Singer Micki Marlo dropped her suit (for attempted rape) against a knitwear mfr. . . . Ginger Rogers and ex-husband Jacques Bergerac were friendly when they met at Toots Shor's . . . Actor Bob Strauss left the hospital to do the "High-Low" TV'er, then returned . . . Groucho Marx plays a surprise 30-second bit role—as Jayne Mansfield's long-lost lover—in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

But Cookie weighs 20 pounds. That's a little bulky for the B.W.'s blouse. So we sat by the iron railing inside, holding Cookie on her leash outside.

Everybody thought it was cute but a waiter who said, "You can't do that." That's what he thought.

When we arrived at the Tarleton Inn, Walter Jacobs, the boss, acted just like he was happy about seeing Cookie. Of course a couple of people said, "Why couldn't we bring our dog?" We just laughed and laughed.

During meal time it was a little awkward.

I would lock Cookie up in the car. Schnauzers are barkers.

Calls came from waitresses who were off duty trying to sleep, saying that "Somebody must be trying to beat a dog to death, the way it's yelling." But not too many.

The B.W. then suggested we drive down to the corner and buy Cookie a hot dog.

We didn't have to drive over 20 miles over the mountain roads till we found a stand—and it was closed.

Twenty miles onward we bought some hamburger.

Cookie wouldn't taste it. It wasn't cooked.

On the way back to New York, we smuggled Cookie into a restaurant and got her stashed down the B.W.

The food came. Then Cookie let out a bark.

"WHAT WAS THAT?" roared the manager, rushing over.

"What was that that barked?"

"Oh, that was just my husband."

WISH I'D SAID THAT:

"As soon as a woman gets married she starts using four-letter words—Cash, mink, ring."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH:

"There's now a company making elevator cowboy boots. That's for Texans who are only six feet tall. Jack Still of Bradford, Pa. expects to get rich with his invention—a new screen for drive-in theaters. You put one around each car. That's earl, brother."

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By WARREN GILES
President, National League
Written for the United Press

CINCINNATI — I am glad to take advantage of Oscar Farley's invitation to contribute a few words as Oscar says, "to the great American public about the great American pastime."

Speaking at a baseball banquet in 1888, Mark Twain is quoted as saying, "Baseball is the very symbol, the outward and visible expression of the drive, and push, and rush and struggle of the racing, tearing, booming Nineteenth Century." It is the same symbol in the Twentieth Century.

I HAVE BEEN asked many times what I thought were the most important factors contributing to the great popularity of baseball, its deep rooted hold on "youngsters" and "oldsters" alike. Of course there are many factors, but in my opinion, some are more important.

First baseball is traditionally an American game, having been played under the same fundamental rules for more than half a century unlike some of the other popular sports. Professionally it has been maintained as a popular priced spectator sport and a very important factor is the public confidence the game enjoys because of its unquestioned integrity.

IN ADDITION to offering great entertainment, baseball provides a common ground for common thought and common expression where people from all walks of life, all races, colors and creeds can interact with each other on an equal basis. Baseball offers a great emotional outlet, a release of energy, which if not released could be stored up and be released through some avenue not so healthy.

The autograph seekers, fan clubs, fan letter writers, grandstand managers, umpire critics, are all a big part of the game. It is a great social leveler.

THAT THESE advantages are recognized and considered a great civic asset is evidenced by the efforts of public spirited citizens and public officials to secure a major league club for communities not now privileged to enjoy one, and public spirited citizens and public officials making frantic efforts to retain those clubs which there is a possibility of losing.

We earned the FORD 4 LETTER AWARD as an OUTSTANDING FORD DEALERSHIP in 1956

Mexican Colony Leads in Playoff Series

Makes Rout Of Game in Late Innings

Desert Hot Springs,
Mhoon & Mhoon
To Play Tonight

The Mexican Colony scored six runs in their last two times at bat last night at the Polo Grounds to break up a close playoff game and go on to beat M&M-Lehrfeld by a score of 8-1.

Up until the fifth inning it was close all the way with the winners clinging to a slight one run lead. But then hits by Joe Luzano, Raymond Reyes and Don Mendoza cleared the way for the Mexican Colony surge.

Frank Prieto was the winning pitcher as he allowed M&M only four hits while striking out 10 batters. Wayne Schicke took the loss.

THE MEXICAN Colony scored first when Mendoza's sacrifice bunt enabled Davy Martinez to come in. However, M&M came back with a run of their own in the following inning when Clare Schuman singled in Kenny Price.

In the bottom half of the second the Colony took the lead for good when Mendoza singled in Art Jurado. Then the game developed into a pitcher's duel until the winners broke it wide open in the later stages.

THE VICTORY gave the Mexican Colony a 1-0 lead in the playoff series. The two teams will meet again Monday night at the Polo Grounds. Tonight Desert Hot Springs meets Mhoon & Mhoon in a playoff game.

After the game last night the entire M&M team was entertained by their sponsors, the M & M Grocery and Lehrfeld Insurance Company at a party held for the team and their families.

A GANG OF FISHERMEN from Palm Springs did alright for themselves last weekend in a couple of days of fishing off the San Diego coast. They reported that the albacore were really running good, and caught some tuna too. On the trip were, left to right, standing, Jim Bigley, Leo Wilkes, Dr. Bill Aikin, Julie Edelstein, Bob Blau-belt, Rudy Salazar, Cornell Meade, Harold Smith, Chet Goff, and kneeling, Marty Kenyon and Gayle Thompson. Wilkes won the jackpot for catching the biggest fish and Thompson caught the most. There are a total of 22 fish showing in the above photo—count them! (Photo by Mrs. Gayle Thompson).

Gene Conley Has Finally Given Braves 4th Starting Pitcher, Aid on Way to Series

By MILTON RICHMAND ...

United Press Sports Writer ... It took a long time, but stringing Gene Conley finally has gotten around to helping the Milwaukee Braves toward some of that.

CONLEY'S FINE seven-hit effort against Cincinnati Wednesday night gave the Braves a 12-2 victory that stretched their National League lead to 1 1/2 games. The triumph was Milwaukee's 10th in the last 12 games and Conley, who won only two games up until the All-Star break, has won 4 of those 10.

Wes Covington drove in four of the Braves' runs with a pair of homers while Red Schoendienst knocked in three more with a bases-loaded triple in the seventh inning.

The Chicago Cubs, on their longest winning streak of the season, made it five in a row when they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-1, and the Giants beat the Dodgers, 8-5, at Jersey City, N.J., in the only other scheduled National League contests.

THE CHICAGO White Sox, who still entertain some hopes of catching the Yankees in the American League race, cut the distance between them to six games with a 7-0 decision over Kansas City.

Washington nipped the Yanks, 3-2; Detroit defeated Cleveland, 4-1, and the Red Sox topped the Orioles, 5-2, in 11 innings.
